Re: Linde v. Arab Bank, PLC, 04-CV-2799 (BMC)(PK), and related cases

Dear Judge Cogan:

We write on Plaintiffs' behalf in response to Defendant's letter filed today.

We note that the Stipulation of Dismissal has been filed today by Defendant – to which Plaintiffs do not object. However, consistent with our letter dated March 16, 2018, we do not believe that dismissal can be “so ordered” by the Court for the claims of minors, estates and incapacitated individuals that are subject to Court approval until a final accounting has been submitted for those individual Plaintiffs.

While this is a purely administrative process in light of Plaintiffs' prior submissions and the Court's interim orders, dismissal of those claims can only be effectuated once the Court has issued its final approvals of the infant compromises and the approvals for certain estates and incapacitated individuals.

Respectfully submitted,

/s/ Gary M. Osen
